

Green Economy in the Global World, Green Economy Implementations in the World and Examples of Turkey

Fethullah ATAÇ & Recep Yortanlı

Yalova University / Yalova, Turkey

ABSTRACT

The primary purpose of this article is research of the Green Economy in the Global World, Green Economy Implementations in the World and Examples of Turkey. The importance of green economy is improved by various environmental events day by day. According to this case, we have researched many resources which about the effects of green economy and combined the all information that two categorized as world applications and examples of Turkey. Actually, we have defined that what green economy is, with many different words in order to understandable for everybody because, if we would like to talk the importance of green economy we must know that what it is. It is also important for big companies and political forces. A lot of company knows that the green economy will bring a big profit margin, more employment and less damaged nature. But, only a few big companies which placed in the developed country try to do green economic factors in their work life and corporate culture. The developed countries like U.S.A, France, Germany and less developed countries like Egypt, India and China carry out the green economy in order to improve their economy. For example, in the U.S.A, the political forces has over than $900 billion to use controlling country's economy but they used the 10% of this money for green economy and they have received a lot of return. In this study, we must recognize that, Turkey needs to use green economy every part of production and economics. We also focused on the weakness of green economy in Turkey. Recent, there is much study to increase using green economy in Turkey. Some politicians and economists want to give information's to people in order to teaching what green economy is. This is important for Turkey.

BOOK OF ABSTRACTS